Valuable Lands For Sale.

THE subscriber will sell at public sale, on Tuesday the 14th of April next, at 12 o'clock the following lot and tracts of land; viz. One, containing twenty nine acres and within about 400 yards of the Pittsburgh And Philadelphia turnpike road—the second, containing one and a sixth acre, fronting on said turnpike, being part of the Bull-penn's tract—and third, his interest (being one eighth) in the bullock-penn's tract containing, 350 acres, with dwelling houses, orchards, meadow and every other improvment, equal if not superior to any in the neighbourhood of Pittsburgh. This property is well situated and of the best quality, and within six miles of Pittsburgh, and so well known as to need no particular description—its contiguity to Pittsburgh, and the turnpike are sufficient recommendations.

Terms of sale will be made known at Joseph Welsh's on the premises the place of sale.

The subscriber offers for sale, a large three story GRIST MILL, with two water wheels, three pair of stones and three bolting chests—a SAW-MILL, and a large commodious Dwelling House, suitable for a tavern, convenient to the mills, and from 50 to 100 acres of land, containing fine coal banks and a first rate stone Mill-dam ; situate in Noblestown, Allegheny county.

If this property is not sold by private sale before Friday the 27th of March, it will on that day be offered at public sale on the premises.

Terms of sale made known on the day of sale

LIVERY STABLE.

(Wood street, between Diamond alley & Fifth-st)

George Steward,

RESPECTFULLY informs the inhabitants of this city and its vicinity, that he has opened a Livery Stable, where he intends to carry it on in a manner calculated to do justice to himself and accommodate all others who may please to give him a call, having altered his stable expressly for the purpose, which is inferior to none in the place. He also intends to keep good riding horses to hire—calculated for journeys of any length. Having procured careful managers to superintend the business, he will be enabled to give general satisfaction.

Good saddles and bridles in every case shall be furnished, necessary for the comfort of the rider—when thus caparisoned it is presumed that justice will be done to horses, so justly their due.

Terms of hire and other affairs relative to the establishment, made known at the time of hiring.

He has also laid in an excellent quantity of oats and hay, and feed of every description.

Gentlemen committing horses to his care, may rest assured of unremitting attention in every particular.

PITTSBURGH.

TUESDAY, MARCH 10, 1818.

STEAM BOAT.

The elegant and well built steam boat General Jackson, left this yesterday. The Gen. Jackson was launched in December last—is owned by Mr. Whiting of Boston and Gen. Carrol of Nashville, and is intended as a regular trader between Nashville and New Orleans.

The bill to establish an uniform system of Bankruptcy has been rejected in the House of Representatives of the United States, by a majority of twelve votes.—By the list of yeas and nays, it appears that the bill received its quietus by the almost united opposition of the southern and western representatives.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

The House of Representatives, on the 23d ult. agreed to postpone indefinately by a majority of 12 votes, the resolution for moving the seat of government to Lancaster. They also negatived Mr. Hill's resolution to sell the stock held by the state in the city banks, and to establish a state bank at Harrisburgh.

The Legislature have appropriated 1000 dollars to the borough, and 5000 to the county of York, towards remunerating the heavy losses, occasioned by the great flood last August.

The Savannah Republican of the 14th inst. states that accounts had been received from Hartford (Geo.) to the 7th. "Gen. Gaines," it is said, "was to leave that place on the 8th, with a detachment of mounted men for a tour of 4 day's service, to guard some provisions intended for Fort Early, on the Flint river; and to ascertain whether a better road could not be had than the present one, into the nation.—An express has reached general Gaines from general Jackson, stating that he would be at Fort Hawkins on the 11th inst. with 1500 mounted men, to go against the hostile Indians."

We learn from Gov. Clinton's speech to the legislature of New York, that nearly 60 miles of the great western Canal, to connect the Hudson with the Lakes, has been contracted for, to be finished within the present year, that it is probable the whole will be so contracted for before spring, and that 15 miles of the work is actually finished.

Col. RICHARD M. JOHNSON of Kentucky has addressed a letter to his constituents, declining a re-election to Congress.

In noticing the late unfortunate quarrel among our naval officers in the Mediterranean, the editor of the Village Record, makes the following elegant and just observations;

One thing is clear: No squadron ought to be suffered, for many months together, to remain upon any station, in inactive service. Particularly this should be avoided in the soft, luxurious, and enervating regions of the Mediterranean. It was there Cæsar wasted a whole year in voluptuous and disgraceful dalliance with the bewitching Cleopatra.—It was there that Anthony was shorn of his honours. It was there that the dauntless Nelson sunk beneath the sorcery of a syren's charms. If a squadron must be kept up in those seas, it should be frequently relieved. Active service, and the invigorating breezes of our western air, will do more to correct arrogance on one side, and insubordination on the other, than all the laws which can be enacted, or all the courts martial can be held.

The Post Chaises, which run between New-York and Philadelphia, a distance of nearly 100 miles, perform the journey daily in 10 hours; an expedition, we believe, unexampled, in any part of the world.

The Rider Ridden.

On Wednesday, January 18th, 1818, in the House of Representatives of Ohio, the bill for the punishment of crimes being called up, a member from Columbiana moved the following additional section, by way of rider. "That all persons who shall hereafter commit the crime of rape, burglary, sodomy, &c. their aiders, abettors, comforters and supporters, shall be declared guilty of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to the Penitentiary for 99 years."—verbatim et literatim. Col. Gaz.

Extract of a letter from New Orleans, Jan. 15.

"394 flat-bottomed boats and 300 barges arrived here from the upper country, with its productions, in the year ending Oct. 1, 1816,—1500 flat bottomed boats and 500 barges, ditto, in the year to Oct. 1, 1817.

"987 vessels sailed from this port and Bayou Saint John, in the year ending Oct. 1, 1816, tonnage 10,000.

"1115 vessels sailed as above in the year ending Oct. 1 1817, tonnage 19,000.

"These vessels were employed in carrying the produce of the United States, and that part of the Floridas belonging to the U. S.

The Legislature of Mississippi, during its late session, passed an act to improve the navigation of several rivers of that state.

From the Boston Daily Advertiser.

Mr HALE.—The following fact, for which I have the most unquestionable authority, corroborates the truth of the reasoning of the Examiner on the inefficacy of the State Prison, as a mode of punishment, and demonstrates that on some minds, the fear of death is incomparably more influential than that of imprisonment even for life.

In one of the western counties of this state, a few years since, a coloured man was tried and convicted of a rape committed upon the body of a white girl.—The evidence against him appeared very strong to his counsel, who is one of the most eminent lawyers in the Commonwealth, and he took occasion one day before the trial, to express his apprehensions that he would be convicted, and to advise him to prepare for the event. The prisoner with great tranquility and sang froid replied, that if he should be so unlucky as to be found guilty, he had strength enough to do his share of the work at Charleston for some years to come.—His counsel perceiving his mistake, immediately undeceived him as to the punishment, which for this offence is capital, to the utmost astonishment and horror of the prisoner, who till this moment had securely reposed in the belief that the consequences of a conviction would only extend to confinement in the State Prison; he solemnly averred that he never should have committed the crime, if he had been aware that its punishment was death. He subsequently confessed to his counsel that he had previously perpetrated the same crime upon four different females, whose sensibility had induced them to conceal his guilt rather than to publish their disgrace by prosecuting their remorseless ravisher.

Congressional Curiosities.

Here may be seen a King, an Earl, the Pope, and an Abbot. Here also may be witnessed the philosophy of a Newton, the metaphysicks of an Edwards, the poetical powers of a Campbell, Byron and Bloomfield, and the valour of a Wallace—nay Moore, the strength of a Sampson, and the congregated prowess of three Nelsons. A Parrot and a Hogg, with a Short Coob. A Walker of much speed; two Noble Taylors, a Hale Butler, a Rich Sawyer, a Pleasant Barber, a Smart Mason, a New Cook and a strong Miller. Two Blount Savage Hunters. A Troup of Smiths, with a Sergeant.—The city of Paris, with Halls, Stores, Lanes and Mills. A Fuller and an Ash-man. A Little Clay, and a Tar and Rice Marchand.—[Catskill Recorder.

DAYS OF OLD.

The townships of Dartmouth, Westport, New Bedford, Freetown and Fairhaven, composing one tract, were purchased by gov. Bradford and his associates, in 1655, of Wasemequin, and Wamsutta, his son, for the following considerations: 30 yards of cloth, 8 moose skins, 4 axes, 15 hoes, 15 pair of breeches, 8 blankets, 2 kettles, 1 cloak, 2 pounds of wampum, eight pair of shoes, 1 iron pot, and 10 shillings in other commodities.

We may add to this curious article, the fact that the whole of the land on which the flourishing town of Norfolk now stands, was bought from the original Indian proprietor (Old Nick Wise) and the title confirmed by his son (Young Nick Wise) for 10,000 lbs. Tobacco, valued at $229,99 cts.

NATIONAL ETIQUETTE.

LONDON, Dec. 29.

We lament to say that no salutes took place upon the arrival of the Russian squadron at Portsmouth, because they insist on an equal number of guns being returned; which, by the present admiralty instructions, our ships of war are forbidden to do to the flag of any nation; they would be saluted by two guns less. On Monday, Admiral Sir Edw. Thornborough made a complimentary visit to the Russian Admiral, and was received by a salute of thirteen guns, and three cheers from the crew. On Christmas day the Russian Admiral and some of the captains of his squadron dined with captain Boger on board the Queen Charlotte, when he was received with a salute of thirteen guns. These are considered personal, not national salutes. It was understood that the American line of battle ship Franklin, which proposed to come up to Spithead from Cowes yesterday, would not salute, from the same cause stated above; her commander, (Commodore Stewart) demanding that the same number of guns should be fired on the arrival of his broad pendant, as his ship would fire on coming to the anchorage in sight of Sir Edward Thornbrough's flag, flying at the main of the Queen Charlotte. We regret this equality of personal compliment submitted to by Sir Edward Thornbrough; we may presume that he has fraternised in the same way with the American Commodore, for there can be no reason for refusing in the one case the condescension that has been granted in the other. On a subject of so much delicacy and importance, the Port Admiral is not likely to have committed himself without consulting the Admiralty, and, therefore, we fear, that in this transaction we record the abandonment forever of this proud and distinguishing mark of the superiority of the British flag.

Devotion to Clerical Duties.

We know the following affecting statement to be correct:

In a parish in the immediate vicinity of Dublin, the Catholic Curate was called on to administer the last solemn rites of religion to a family in the last stage of Typhus fever. On entering the hovel, he found them in number six or seven persons, male and female, lying on a truss of straw scattered on the moist and muddy floor. The agonies of death were coming fast upon them. The confessions of each of them were to be heard. Lest one should overhear the confession of the other, he stretched himself on the straw, while the wretched sufferer breathed his or her transgressions into his ear. Thus inhaling the poison of their respiration, and separating them from each other successively, at the risque of his own life, he completed his sacred functions.

Naples.—Says Mr. Forsyth, who has recently published remarks upon Italy,—"To a mere student of nature, to an artist, to a man of pleasure, to any man who can be happy among people who seldom affect virtue, perhaps there is no residence in Europe so happy as Naples and its environs.—What variety of attraction! A climate where heaven's breath smells sweet and wooingly—the most beautiful interchange of sea and land; wines, fruits, provisions in their highest excellence; a vigorous and luxuriant nature, unparalleled in its productions and processes; all the wonders of volcanic power spent or in action; antiquities different from all antiquities on earth; a coast which was once the fairy-land of poets, and the favourite retreats of great men. Even the tyrants of the creation loved this alluring region, spared it, adorned it, lived in it, died in it."

Exactly the reverse of this is the moral picture of Naples, which, while surpassing in every thing that can delight the senses, is a sink of vice, the kennel of debauchery.

Here, in an evil hour, Lord Nelson found the enchantress, whose beauty and blandishments ingulfed him in moral ruin. His connection with the captivating, but profligate lady Hamilton, and the unfeeling and unnatural conduct and extravagant fooleries to which that illicit connection led him, left the foulest stain upon a character, which, till the age of forty-four, had been unblotted.—Con. Cour.

Amphibious animals of Adams' race.—The town of Tscharkaskay, in Asiatic Russia, situated beside the river Don, which, like the Nile, rises in the course of the spring from 15 to 18 feet, is described in Clarke's travels, in the manner here following:—"The appearance of Tscharkaskay, as the traveller approaches it on the river, affords the most novel spectacle. The entrance is by broad canals, which intersect it in all parts. On either side, wooden houses built on piles, appear to float upon the water, to which the inhabitants pass in boats, or by narrow bridges only, two planks wide, with posts and rails, for running a causeway to every part of the place. As we sailed into the town, we beheld the younger part of the inhabitants upon the house-tops, sitting to the ridges of the sloping roofs. On our approach, children leaped from the windows and doors, like so many frogs, in the water, and in an instant were seen swimming about our boat. Every thing seemed to announce an amphibious race: not an inch of dry land was to been seen: and, in the midst of a very populous metropolis, at least one half of the citizens were in the water, and the other in the air."

ORIGINAL ANECDOTE.

A clergyman and a physician lived in the same village, on terms of great intimacy.—The former was attacked by a violent fit of the gout, and the latter attended his reverend friend, gratuitously, with unabating care and corresponding success.

The medical gentleman soon after called upon his neighbour, the Parson, to perform a certain service; and the call was promptly and cheerfully obeyed.

The clergyman took an early opportunity of withdrawing himself from the assembled company, alone and unobserved: but he was soon followed to his home by a brother of the physician, requesting his acceptance to a rouleau of guineas, as a marriage fee. The divine retired for two minutes to his study, and returned the rouleau to the bearer, with a note containing the following

REAL IMPROMPTU.

To the Doctor the Parson's a sort of a brother;
And a good turn from one deserves one from the other:
So take back your guineas, dear Doctor again;
Nor give—what you so well can remedy—pain.
Permit me to wish you all joy and delight
On th' occasion that brought us together to-night,
May health, fame, and wealth attend you thro' life,
And ev'ry day add to the bliss of your wife.

LAND AGENCY.

ALLEN LATHAM,

ATTORNEY AND AGENT,

CHILICOTHE, (OHIO.)

WILL transact any agency business respecting lands in that section of the country: as, BUYING--SELLING, PAYING OVER TAXES, &c.

He has furnished himself with accurate copies of the books of TAX SALE, of the books of Entries and Surveys—and also with large connection plats of the UNITED STATES AND VIRGINIA MILITARY DISTRICTS, and other Records by which he can trace out most of the TITLES, and will furnish abstracts or copies with connexions to those who may make application. He will also have a REGISTRY of LANDS offered for sale kept at his office—Those who have any to sell may have them registered in Book, kept for that purpose, which will be open at all times for the inspection of those who may wish to purchase. Notice or advertisement, of lands so registered, will be distributed thro' those States from which the emigrations to this country is the greatest. NO COMPENSATION will be required unless a SALE is effected thro' his agency, and in that case, only a moderate commission.

Gentlemen who live at a distance, and forward their papers by mail (Post Paid) may rely on having their business attended to with punctuality.

CAJIPUT OIL.

An East India cure for the Rheumatism.

The essential Oil of the Cajiput Tree a medicine universally esteemed among the East Indians as a safe and certain cure for the Rheumatism, also, for bruises, sprains, fresh cuts, &c. &c.

THE above valuable medicine has but lately been introduced into Europe, in consequence of the tree from which it is produced, yielding its essential oil but in small quantities, and this chiefly monopolized by the government, owing to the great virtue it was found to possess in the cure of the rheumatisms, a disease which the people of that country are particularly subject to: the proprietor, however, receiving information of its virtues in a letter from his friend Mr. Jenkins, of the honorable East India company, has procured through him, at considerable expense, a regular supply, and wishing to extend the benefit as well to the poor as to the rich, has divided the original packages and put it up in bottles made for the purpose, with directions round each bottle, signed in the proprietors own hand writing.

Valuable Real estate for sale.

PURSUANT to the last Will and Testament of the late Col. RICHARD BROWN, deceased I NOW OFFER FOR SALE,

The Farm on which he resided

On the Ohio River, in Holliday's Cove, in Brooke County, Virginia.

This Estate consists of about 700 Acres of Land, 250 of which is a rich Island, the remainder principally second bottom and upland; that part of the upland which is not tillable, is covered with timber suitable for furnishing the Island and tillable part with fencing and building timber. There is between 150 and 200 acres cleared and under cultivation, a suitable proportion of which is good meadow land. The buildings consist in two log dwelling houses and a log barn with under story of stone. It is well supplied with very fine springs of good water.

The situation of this property on the Ohio River five miles from the flourishing Town of Steubenville, and in the neighbourhood of several Merchant Mills, Iron Works, &c. renders it a desirable object to a person who would wish to farm extensively, as he would probably at all times find a good market at his door for the produce of his farm. A part of the purchase will be required in hand, and for the remainder a reasonable credit will be given.
